Stall Where "Mox" Slept.

Commonwealth's-Attorney Thomas and Sheriff J. W. Southward, of Henrico, accompanied by Detective Sutherland and a representative of the press, visited the farm of Mr. Jacob Feitig near Oakwood yesterday morning in order to make a thorough search of the hay in the stall in which "Mox" Rosdeitcher was found wounded on the morning of July 2d.

They were courteously received by Mr. and Mrs. Feitig, at whose request the visit was made.

It was thought by many that possibly some of "Mox's" effects might be hidden none of the stalls, and that their discovery would throw light upon the mystery, but after a most careful search nothing could be found except two small straps and a hatchet, which were identified by Mr. and Mrs. Feitig as the property of the peddler. The batchet was carried as a twenty would have been a deadly one in his hands, as he was very muscular.

Mr. Feitig assisted the county officials while making an examination of the hay in the shed, and every forkful was carefully inspected. Not only was the stall in which "Mox" is said to have slept closely searched, but also the one adjoining it on the left, but the hatchet and leather straps were the only articles discovered.

The subject was brought to the attention of our Council by Councilman Pleasants during the spring, and a committee appointed to carry out the bebest of the Legislature. This was promptly done by the committee, and an ordinance for the purpose was passed by the lower branch, but in the Board of Aldermen it was referred to the Board of Public Interests, which have never made a report on the subject. As the winter season is approaching, when the houses of amusement will be open and the factories of various kinds will be increasing their force, the Council should take action on this subject at once. Great calamity may thereby be averted.

THE MEN OF MEDICINE.

Typhoid-Fever and Other Diseases Discussed by the Doctors.

There was quite a gathering of the doctors at the Academy last night. Dr. E. P. Turner having been called out of the city, could not read his paper as advertised.
Dr. Bosher reported a case of aneurism of the aorta which had been diagnosed before death. The specimen as exhibited was very interesting. The enlarged artery had so pressed upon the sternum (breast-bone) as to perforate it.

so pressed upon the sternum (breast-bone) as to perforate it.

Dr. Garcin reported two cases of disease, one of a peculiar charact. There was quite a lengthy discussion of typhoid-fever, of which several cases were reported. It was participated in by Drs. Moore, Meredith, Hoge, Parker, and others. There are quite a number of cases of this disease in the city at present, especially in the suburbs. In other respects the city is healthy.

the suburbs. In other respects the children healthy.

A new feature of some importance lately introduced in the Academy is the appointment of a "reporter," who sends copies of the proceedings to various medical journals North and South. It has been found that these proceedings have been published in many journals, thus giving our young men especially the opportunity of being known abroad.

THE CARPENTERS AND JOINERS. Aprens to Be Worn and Canes Carried i

The Carpenters' and Joiners' Union of this city will take a conspicuous part in the great Labor-day parade on Monday next.

At a meeting of this organization held last Monday night committees were appointed to procure badges stamped with the emblem and name of the union, and the members will also wear aprons made especially for theoccasion.

A banner of blue silk, bearing the emblems of the organization and the date of its formation, will be carried in the procession, and each member will be provided with a cane, upon which will be fastened a small United States flag. Two of the largest men in the union were also appointed to carry the banner and a United States flag. The Carpenters' and Joiners' Union frightened at an electric car and darted off, going at a rapid pace.

Policeman Talley endeavored to stop them by giving one of the animals a sharp rap on the head as it passed Eleventh street, but this had no effect, and they continued running until nearly in iront of the State Bank, when one of them fell and in getting up knocked the other down, bringing both to stand-still.

Both of the horses were injured about the knees, one of them quite badly.

When the runaway occurred the driver was on foot.

At 5:05 P. M. the ambulance was summoned to the Tredegar-Works to attend John Turner, one of the colored operatives, whose hand was badly mashed by being caught in a cog-wheel. and Mr. Alexander Fitzgerald, principal of the white schools, were also in attendance.

The session lasted for about two hours and was devoted chiefly to perfecting arrangements for the next session, which will open on Monday. September 22d. Messrs. Shanks & Barrett were awarded the contract for putting in the proper pipes and connecting the two boilers by which the white school building is heated. The idea of this is to have the boilers so arranged that either one or both may be used. At present each one heats half of the building.

WHAT BOOKS WILL BY USED.

WHAT BOOKS WILL BE USED.

Mr. Peple, from the Committee on Grades, presented a report recommending a list of books to be used in the public schools of the city for the next four years. In making the report he read a letter bearing on the subject from Superintendent Pulliam, who did not expect to return to the city in time for the meeting, and stated that only such changes had been made as were necessary in order to comply with the list adopted by the State Board of Public Instruction, from which selections must be made. These, he explained, as the changes: Appleton's as one of the geographies to be used in place of Eclectic: Tracy's Physiology substituted for Welker's, and Waddy's Rhetoric for Hart's.

for Walker's, and Waddy's Knetoric for Hart's.

Mr. Pepie and Superintendent Pulliam both explained that these changes will entail but slight cost, as some of the books adopted were formerly and are now in many households. Waddy's Rhetoric was adopted because it was written by a Virginia lady and is considered a good work.

Willie was seen smoking a cigar with great pemposity soon afterwards he was suspected of the theft.

He denied the charge and told Justice Cruteafield that he was liable to err, as he didn't have any mother to correct him. The prisoner, who is about twenty-six years old, seemed to need parental guidance and Justice Crutchfield suggested that he got a guardian.

"Well," your Honer," said he, "I will let you be my guardian."

He was discharged and departed with a radiant smile.

THE FINANCIAL OUTLOOK.

The Financial outlook.

The Finance Committee submitted a report saying that the books of the Secretary had been examined and found to be correct and neatly kept with vouchers for all expenditures during the fiscal year.

The committee also presented a financial statement based on comparisons with last last year. This, the report continues, shows an excess of $1.334.41, assuming that the increase from the State fund—say $1.000—will be available this year. Should the board fail in getting the additional $1.000 the excess will be only $354.41. If a teacher can be obtained as assistant to the principal for $50 per month, the dependence of the board would rest entirely upon the receipt of the additional $1,000 to avoid a deficiency at the end of the year.

Mr. Peterson is a Bachelor of Arts of Randolph-Macon, and no one could have higher recommendations than he has from the president and faculty of that institution.

At the suggestion of Mr. Pulliam, which Mr. Peple heartily endorsed, it was resolved that the Committee on Grades shall decide what branches shall be added to those now taught in the High School, and what classes shall be taught respectively by the principal, who is now the teacher of that school, and his assistant, Mr. Peple, who is himself an experienced and accomplished educator, made a very interesting speech about the responsible duties of a principal, who should be an instructor of teachers, and urged the importance of giving Mr. Fitzgerald sufficient time to look after all the white schools and to assist the teachers, especially the new ones.

After transacting some routine business the board adjourned at a few minutes after 10 o'clock.

The New York Train Saved by the Fire

(Correspondence of the Richmond Disparch.)

ASHLAND, VA., August 26, 1800.

No. 78, the mail from Jacksonville, Fla., to New York, left this evening on time at 7:22. Lattle did her passengers or officers apprehend any danger. When opposite the pleasure-ground known as Ashland Park, situated about a mile and a half from Ashland, the tire or rim of one of the back wheels of the engine was broken and dangled upon the axie. Another hundred yards would have brought the train upon a sharp curve and every car would have a sharp curve and every car would have been thrown from the track.

STOPPED THE TRAIN.

O'Brien, the engineer, gives all the credit of stopping the train to the fireman. That official, when he saw the fire from the broken wheel, with admirable presence of mind reached for the brakes. The stop was made in one hundred yards. The speed was forty miles an hour.

The Ashland quartermaster with his force is now connecting the back end of the switch (which is situated immediately upon the scene of the accident) with the main track. The object is to leave the broken engine upon this switch and press another engine into service. This work will probably be completed about 11:30.

Third race—Monmouth handicap sweep-stakes of $100 each, with $5,000 added, one mile and a half. Starters: Firenzi, Frince Royal, Rhono, Los Angeles, Tristan, Tea Tray, and Lavinia Belle. After Tea Tray had spoiled three starts they were sent away in good order. Los Angeles was first to show, followed by Firenzi, Lavinia Belle, and Tea Tray. Tristan at once rushed to the front, and lapped by Lavinia Belle, with Los Angeles and Rhono a length away, set a stiff pace for a mile. Then Rhono commenced to improve his position, and at a mile and a furlong was on even terms with Tristan, with Tea Tray coming like a steam engine from the rear, while Firenzi, Prince Royal, and Los Angeles were beaten. In the last furlong Rhono drew away from all except Tea Tray, who for once took it into his head to run, and passing Rhono twenty yards from the finish, won by a length. Lavinia Bell was third, two lengths away. Then followed Tristan, Prince Royal, Los Angeles, and Firenzi in the order named. Time, 2:34.

The following is a true snake story, fully vouched for, and the incident occurred about a mile from this place several days since: An old lady observed that one of her hen nests was robbed of its eggs and suspected that a snake might be the thief. HINTON, W. Va. August 26.—Hon. John D. Alderson was renominated here to-day and will be triumphantly elected in November next. The convention was harmonious throughout and great enthusiasm prevailed. suspected that a snake might be the thief. It seems to be a custom among some of ye country folk to place white rocks as nesteggs in the hens' nests sometimes, and this particular lady did that veritable thing, putting in two white rocks somewhat larger than a hen's egg. The following day on visiting her hennery she discovered the snake, a large specimen of the black variety, and procuring woman's proverbial weapon for attack and defence, a broom-stick, she dispatched his snakeship, and in doing so she noticed that her blows fell on a hard substance in the snake's stomach. A post-moriem examination revealed the white rocks she had placed in the nest, and the lady preserves them to exhibit to her friends. Fact!

He is only fifteen years old, and his skin is of such a bright hue that he might be taken for a white boy.

Mr. Rolin testified that some time Sunday night or Monday morning the mule was taken from his stable. He notified the Manchester police, who received a telephone nessage Monday stating that the thief had been captured by the Richmond police and the mule recovered.

Mr. E. P. Murphy stated that the boy attempted to sell him the mule, charging $90 for it.
